

Coaches,

I'm excited to share the news that Point Guard College (PGC) will be hosting a clinic in Calgary, Alberta for players and coaches from May 28-30, 2010.

The clinic will provide players and coaches the opportunity to attend what many coaches consider to be the premier instructional program in North America. It is already sold out for players and over 120 players from across Alberta will be in attendance.

There is still time to register as an Observing Coach and join the 25+ coaches who have already signed up to attend the clinic. The clinic will serve as a unique and invaluable coaches clinics and professional development opportunity for high school, college, and university coaches.

See what Rick Torbett, founder of Better Basketball and the Read & React Offence, said about his experience attending PGC: <http://www.pointguardcollege.com/testimonials/video>.

For those of you who are not familiar with Point Guard College, it is not your typical basketball camp. They call it a "college" for a reason. Each session includes daily film sessions, classroom sessions and court sessions. The curriculum has been specially designed to teach players to play the game intelligently, to train purposefully, to be "coaches on the court," and to be true leaders during games, in practice, during the off-season, and in everyday life.

Please Note: PGC will also be offering two sessions this summer in British Columbia for coaches and players (grades 7 and up).
